WORLDWIDE GENOCIDE PLAN TO REDUCE POPULATION IN EFFECT Holocaust Survivor and Covid Protocol Victim Team Up to Spread Warning

FREEDOM, WISCONSIN, July 19, 2022 — When Vera Sharav looks back on the repressive measures that eventually led to the atrocities of the Holocaust that she survived, she's reminded of the fear, propaganda and censorship utilized by the National Socialist (Nazi) regime to begin the long march that ended in the death camps. She senses similar government directives and the complicity of the medical establishment in carrying out medical murder reflects the German policies of the 1930's.

Scott Schara agrees. He lost his 19-year-old daughter, Grace, who had Down Syndrome, to illegal, unethical hospital protocols in October of 2021. Physicians and nurses administered powerful, contraindicated drugs to Grace that ended her life. In addition, a physician also wrote his own Do-Not-Resuscitate (DNR) order on her without family knowledge or consent, ensuring no one would attempt to revive her. Schara believes Grace was targeted because of her disability.

Sharav and Schara have now teamed up to warn others about the worldwide genocide currently underway, with one being the survivor of genocide and the other a victim of the current genocide. Sharav is a public advocate for human rights, and the founder and president of the Alliance for Human Research Protection (AHRP) which serves as an information resource and public interest watchdog organization whose goal is to unlock the walls of secrecy in biomedical research and bring accountability to that endeavor. Schara is the founder and president of Our Amazing Grace's Light Shines On, Inc., and is an advocate exposing how hospital systems are being used during this worldwide genocide, and a proponent of God's solution to the problem – repentance and faith in Him.

"It's difficult to comprehend the outrage that people have about Holocaust comparisons when Winston Churchill said, 'Those that fail to learn from history are doomed to repeat it,'" Schara said. "This comparison isn't trivial – it's real and people are losing their loved ones every day to the genocide happening within hospitals all around the world. I fell victim to trusting medical professionals, just as during the early years of the Nazi regime, people fell victim to the T-4 Euthanasia Program that attempted to eliminate the disabled from society. The slogan after the Holocaust was 'Never Again.' The fact is that during the Covid Era of the last two-plus years, the world hasn't learned from history and 'Never Again' is happening now."

Sharav views everything through an historical context that clearly show similarities of then and now.

"Grace Schara's story should open people's eyes if they first realize this story follows the same trajectory of T-4, the directive to get rid of the disabled," Sharav said. "German infants and children under three years old were the first medical murders in Nazi Germany."

As was the case in World War II, a coordinated effort using physicians, nurses, scientists, and media propaganda, the world today adopted Nazi-style methods to control billions of people. Today's technology makes the process applicable on a much larger scale as people are forced into digital concentration camps, according to Sharav.

"Nazi doctors were able to do what they did by disqualifying their patients as human beings. They regarded them as damaged goods, therefore you can do anything with them. Same thing for prisoners, and same thing for children. These are the voiceless," Sharav said. This is once again happening by treating nonvaccinated people and those who are injured by the Covid jabs as pariahs unworthy of life, she said. "People have been programmed through an education system that teaches people to defer to authority. Deferring to authority and obeying what is dictated by authority, is collaborating in one's enslavement."

The governmental authorities worldwide have used fear of a virus that has a greater than 99-percent survival rate, along with the media and Big Tech to propagandize and censor dissident voices, respectively, to control the masses in much the same way as Hitler controlled Germans, except he controlled physically, while the current control is one of psychological means.

With slogans such as "safe and effective," "we are all in this together," and "do your part," the psychological impact through repetition has had dire consequences on millions of people. The promised vaccine savior has been a catastrophic disaster in terms of efficacy as health authorities admit it doesn't provide protection from infection or protection from transmission; while its safety is suspect considering the numbers reported to the Vaccine Adverse Events Reporting System (VAERS), which traditionally only accounts for 1-10 percent of actual adverse events. The latest figures include more than 29,000 deaths, 15,000 heart attacks, and 165,000 hospitalizations.

"Those of us who have not accepted this Covid injection – we are the control – which they want to eliminate, badly. You see, the control group messes up their whole claim, which is you can't live without the vaccine," Sharav said. Since no long-term studies can be accomplished if the control group no longer exists, both Pfizer and Moderna eliminated their control groups once the Emergency Use Authorization for their products was approved by the FDA, citing ethical concerns from not vaccinating the participants.

Both Sharav and Schara believe a way to end the genocide is through mass noncompliance and always questioning authority, neither of which happened during the Holocaust.

"Even if you were only given one talent, do something with it," Schara said. "Above all, don't succumb to the inevitable 'solution' those behind the chaos will put forward – we are in a spiritual battle that man's solutions are not part of."

Seeing the whole world fall under lockstep with Covid is a dangerous path that we must remove ourselves from, Sharav said.

"The more concentrated government power, the more dangerous it is for human beings. Our best safeguard is having the power spread out. This was the genius of our forefathers. What they [those in control] want in this so called 'Great Reset' or 'New World Order' – Hitler also talked about a New World Order – is total control. One government. One digital currency. And no place to go for grievances," she added.

Through Sharav's first-hand knowledge of the Holocaust, and Schara's first-hand knowledge of hospitals that he refers to as the "new killing fields," the duo hopes to save lives through history and education.

"Never simply trust your doctor. Make them earn your trust or you or your loved ones might be the next in line to succumb to this genocide within hospitals," Schara said.
